Description:

Palbox S.p.A. is an Italian company operating in the plastic packaging sector, specialized in the production of large-volume containers and solutions for storage and logistics. Founded in 1972, the company was initially established to serve the agricultural sector—particularly for the harvesting and storage of apples—and has gradually expanded its offering to include industrial and logistics sectors. Today, Palbox manufactures plastic containers (HDPE), pallets, and modular containers designed to optimize the transport and storage of goods. The company has extensive experience in injection molding and operates multiple facilities across Europe. In summary, Palbox is a manufacturing company specialized in industrial and agricultural packaging solutions, with a strong focus on logistics efficiency and material sustainability.
